James A. Myer 1843_1913

Of absolute devotion to an institution, there was never a finer example. Jim was with the University at its birth in 1866. When Dr. Coppee, the first President, conducted the earliest exercises and lessons in Christmas Hall, it was Myers who rang the hand bell that called the students to class. A friend of Judge Packer, he was intimately acquainted with the founder's plans and dreams for this school. He saw them, as the decades slipped by, rise toward realization in the administrations of Dr. Leavitt, Dr. Lamberton, and Dr. Drown. He passed through the lean years and he lived, to his great joy, to witness the splendid flowering of the University under the leadership of Dr. Drinker.

James Myers is dead. "In his life he was lowly and a peacemaker and a servant of God." In his death he has the rare distinction of having his name pass into a Lehigh tradition.

R. Morris Gummere 1846-1914

Mr. Gummere's services to the University were manifold and extended over a period of 30 years. From 1884 to his death he was Secretary of the Executive Committee of the Trustees, from 1901 Treasurer of the University, during 1909-1910 Assistant Secretary of the Board of Trustees, and since 1910 Secretary of the Board.

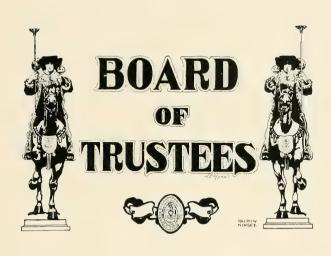

By his death Lehigh University loses not only an executive officer who has been actively connected with the administration of the University for nearly one-third of a century, but as well a loyal friend and staunch supporter who was always ready, regardless of personal convenience, to give freely of his time and energy for the welfare and advancement of the University.

Dedication

THROUGH force of habit and custom, we must dedicate this portion of the book to some noted and illustrious person or group of the species.

It is therefore befitting that we grasp the great opportunity which so graciously presents itself, by dedicating it to our "noble" professors and "competent" instructors, who have helped some of us so much in attaining our ambition; made some of us lose it; and kept the rest of us from having a desire for it.

We, now, with the wisdom of Solomon and "Scotty," do hereby dedicate our book to the "LIVING DEAD."

Echo from the Senior Banquet

Men of Lehigh, gathered here, Drink your cocktail, drink your beer, Fat until your bellies bust. Sing your songs, in God we'll trust. We'll let our names go down in history, In letters bold, there'll be no mystery, We have met the best of men: Baldy Stuart, and Geology Ben, Thorny, and his ribald crew, Frank McKibben, Windy, too. We have met the great Boze Reiter, Aesthetic athlete, and Bull fighter. Have we not come at the hearken, Of the big man, they call Larkin? We have gotten good veneering, In the lines of good engineering. We have learned the classics, slightly, Enough to shine, in parlors, brightly. We have not neglected dancing: The Colosseum, at night's entrancing. Of course, we read the "Wall Street Journal," And stocks, and bonds, and such infernal Things to us are second nature, At least, we know the nomenclature, Of every science, art and knowledge. On the roster, of this old college. Soon, we'll leave its paths, protected, Into the world, we'll be projected, With such an educational wad. We cannot fail. We won't, by God!

-G. LEWIS, '14.

Preface

THE purpose of the Epitome, if we grasp the idea correctly, is to crystallize for future reference the progress, events, and scenes of the year at Lehigh.

In this section allotted to the Senior Class, the Committee has simply tried to present another "round table" like the one at Charlie's, whereon are carved the names, memories and a few of the facts of the Class of 1914; and, if the carving be not to your liking, in Christian kindness charge the fault to the deficit in our artistic training rather than to any lack of effort or enthusiasm on the part of

The Committee.

Class History

N truth, "the world will little note nor long remember what we say here," yet "a decent respect for the opinions of mankind" and a due observance of precedent require at this time a written account of the Class of 1914, what we are and what we have been. In this, as in all things else, we assume our duty as it falls upon us. Without apology for our record, we present this little sketch of our four busy years spent in the shadow of Packer Hall. We have done our best; "man nor angel could have done no more!"

Our members have dwindled since the autumn days of 1910 when our class first trod the Thorny path of knowledge. With a gasp of regret for our lost class-mates, we realize how painfully long is the "phantom list" of our class; and those of us who have waited anxiously without the frosted glass door in the foot of Packer tower shiver as we think of what might have been.

Those of us who have survived by the various methods of actual working, or (rare is the case) by successful bluffing, pat ourselves on the back with mixed emotions of wonder that we ever came through the "mills of the gods" with a whole skin, and with the natural congratulatory feeling that since we did survive, we must be, in student parlance, "there." This feeling is not pure self-conceit, but rather a self-esteem that with a few hard knocks from the outside world will grow to that confidence which is necessary in the make-up of every successful engineer and business

As under-classmen, we went into the rushes with good spirits and we were usually victorious. Whose of us who did not shyster are glad we have those memories to carry with us; and some of us have no doubt had the unspoken thought of slapping a future son on the back as we send him to Lehigh with the admonition to "Get into things, son!"

As upper classmen, we worked to the reorganization of the Honor System and the Arcadia with earnestness of purpose and honest loyalty to our Alma Mater.

In athletics, our class has been unusually strong, and Lehigh line-ups for the last four years have contained more than a proportionate quota of 1914 men.

Senior Class Book

With the unfailing wisdom of the under-graduate we believe that we could advise the faculty as to many better methods of teaching than those now in vogue; yet with a near-graduation attempt at perception and honesty, we must admit that there is more to the problem of teaching than we once thought and that these men have really been our friends.

As in the span of our short lives we have seen a wonderful broadening of the industrial, economic and social world; we have also in the course of our college career witnessed a great development in the scholastic, athletic and social scope of our University's work.

It is needless to say that we are sorry to leave our Alma Mater; yet we have no time for sentimental regret. Rather we look eagerly forward to the future that in our lives we may set forth the ideals of our college.—always loyal Lehigh men.

"Look, then, into my heart, and write",

After a wild youth spent on the bluffs of the Hudson, at Yonkers, the future Geologist was elevated by grains of knowledge, imparted by several prep. schools and military academies. The result:—A keen, thoughtful person appears with a strong proclivity for photography, rock formations and pipes, who spends his summer chastising youngsters in his camp in the Catskill Mountains and gazing into the future,—Pst! There's a lady in the case. He is a member of the Chi Psi Fraternity.

Clifford Burton Backes, M. E. Wallingford, Conn.

"Pleased with a rattle; tickled with a straw"

Allow me—Mr. Willie Westinghouse Smith Backes. The one and only real inventor of the 1914 crew. Burton started inventing things in Wallingford some time ago, and one of his first products was a new device for eliminating work. This has not been entirely completed as yet, but we are sure that within a short time after Dump graduates he will hastily complete and perfect his great scheme.

Burton is like "our little general"

—Baldy—in many respects. Power of speech and the faculty of claiming all pencils, erasers, and umbrellas in sight, are traits of striking likeness.

Burton is a Mechanical, and he sure is on the right track. If there is anything in his line that he can't do, let me know and I will change this biography

Fraphy.

Burton is a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

"I never use a big, big D-."

"Bill" is a product of Chatham. N. J., and Newark Academy, where he early acquired the habit of doing work at hand, no matter what the distracting influence might be. It was here also that he first showed football and track abilities that afterwards made him so valuable to the 'Varsity. Later he spent a year at Mt. Hermon School, Mass., and it was here that he received the finishing touches for his work at Lehigh. "Bill" has worked his way through college, and has built for himself a well-earned reputation for reliability and capacity to do work. He has been very active in all college affairs and has carried out with success, enthusiasm and reliability all the duties which have fallen to his lot. His success as an engineer is well assured if he carries out his life work with the same spirit of labor that he has shown in all his college activities. He is a member of the Theta Xi Fraternity.

"Over in Jersey,"

"Don" came to us from the land of the sand-burr, with the distinct idea of being unobtrusive, but his Scotch nature got the better of him; he blossomed out in the "Mustard and Cheese" cast in his freshman year. Being used to sand-burr cultivation, he naturally made the Lehigh Burr. "Doe" looks like an Englishman, but claims he cannot help it—that it's because he speaks English. We will have to admit that he has a hammer-lock on the mother tongue which will stand him in good stead in his journalistic pursuits. Some day we will hear from him as we heard from Richard Harding Davis.

"Look!"

"Baldy" and his smile will be enough to insure you of his coming success. The one great thing that will get "Baldy" anything he wants is the fact that he is from Chicopee. That alone will elect him President. But he did not rely too much on this, so he took hold of the minstrel show and managed it successfully, rivalling Al. G. Field and Lew Dockstader.

Here's a secret! He's an electrical. Please don't hold that against him. We all have our weak points, and we are happy that he will be able to overcome it.

"Hay! Got any Chewing?"

Having been raised since October 23, 1891, in New Bethlehem, it was only to have been surmised from the mere association of names that "Billy'" would some fall day descend upon South Bethlehem and Lehigh. Kiski Prep. stood for his bustling some six years, and then shipped him off to be our 120 pound "Varsity catcher his freshman year. And "John" has been "catching a few" ever since.

The annual June Epidemic of this region—last year it was small-pox—was the cause of "Biscuit's" sudden withdrawal from summer school in surveying, to play ball. However, he is one of those few anemalies of college—an athlete who studies consistently. He, it is firmly believed by all, only flunked Iron and Steel to keep out of Tau Beta Pi.

"We don't want to fight; but, by Jingo! if we do—.".

Born in Ossage City, Dec. 13, 1888, little Freddie put the State of Washington on the map. Two months later when he hit the city(?) of Roslyn, ''Tony''—as we know him herenearly went astray. For after teaching the operators how to mine coal he went to Washington State College for one year. His thirst for knowledge and Uhl's at last brought him to South Bethlehem by the way of New Orleans and Hellertown. Now he has a place among the immortals who have defeated Lafayette and others. Tony has been a good student and a prominent college man for four years, and it is a shame to let him go back to the wilds of Washington. Those who know him will have big ears, due to those playful fingers, but his cheerful smile won the hearts of all, and we wish him good luck. He is a member of the Theta Delta

Outside of the fact that Bick come« from Newark, N. J., he is all right. While romping in his childhood days we understand from one of his female class-mates at kindergarten that he had nice long curls, but we doubt it. because-well, why rub it in? At Barringer H. S. "Bick" made a rep. as a runner and a grafter. At Lehigh he continued to give the track team his support, and as for the other part we can merely say that the erowning success was to be on the Senior banquet committee. With such qualifications, and an M. E. degree, he is bound to succeed.

"Now, it's this way."

"Nick" is an old hand at all this college stuff; you can't fool him. He teaches in Bliss Electrical School while he waits for the University to eatch up to him in learning and wit. In his balmy days Al resided near Baltimo' and at times his lingo lapses back into the Mason and Dixon line twang. But listen; if you are ever feeling restless and ill at ease, just go into A. M.'s room and stand around until he sees you. He will immediately get off one of those hazy, far-off jokes of his, and your ill-atease feeling will explode like a bubble in a skillet.

"A child of Nature."

A bold, bad, man is Jack, and a desperado. A visitor from Dickinson College-transplanted from Mechanicsburg. An unofficious guy, but there when it comes to a scrap.

Never heard of him? That's strange. Why he's a senior mechanicals. There may be some reason tho for the senior mechanicals are a hard worked crew, and Jack has had to work pretty hard to stay with the band wagon. He has been putting in double time lately and by applying extra force to the excellerator, and by dropping off excess ballast, he hopes to ease by when the round-up comes.

Dick's presence is the source of much mirth on the part of the "wrecking crew," his droll way of saying the wrong thing at the wrong moment having made many a dry recitation rival the Phump. He's ticklish, too, is Dick. After leaving his beloved high school in '09 he spent one year ''at large,'' but his only notable feat was rescuing three boys from an ice pond, for which he did not receive a Carnegie Hero Medal. His entrance into Lehigh aroused much enthusiasm in the Sophomore Class, but ''Dink'' played a waiting game with the result that he is still among us, shining scholastically and athletically, like our friend 'Poloris,'

'This is my own, my empty bed.''

And so it came to pass that in the year 1892, A. D., there appeared, in the harbor of Philadelphia's something directed to the World's Fair at Chicago. Owing to incompetent traffic management that something was sidetracked to the Coal Region of Scranton, whence it escayed and shortly afterwards descended upon us like a dove in its early hours of the morn, to shed its light abroad so that the fallen may set and live again. Habits are strong, and Dick retains his migratory habits in his transits from here to the 'Stadt.' At present he is writing a 'Guide Book of Allentown' for the feeble-minded, and in collecting data for this moral work he is often called away from his nest in Section D, where he is king.

Twenty-three years ago on the 21st day of August, there arrived on this planet, by way of the "Stork Line," the infant, who one day would be the world's famous metallurgist. Who? Why, Arthur S. the "S" meaning Stork. After attending to the details of education, the youth entered Ursin us College. One he saw in vision that he could not escape his fate. He must be an engineer. Question, plis!"

Beneath the azure of the Southern sky on September 27, 1888, there came a light at Havana on the arrival of this virtuous soul. From the moment he sneaked across the campus for the first time at the beginning of his freshman year until he took his last train for Pittsburgh, he was lucky. Gee, but he was lucky! In fact, he depended too much on luck. "Horseshoe'' should have been his middle name, instead of "Roger." Here's hoping that he's as lucky always as he was in old South Bethlehem.

Scene—Chun's room. "Mr. Chun? Oh, yes, he's in." One hears faint sounds of a German brass band on strike, or a miniature Niagara. Following the noise and opening the door, there C. E. finds seven or eight other C. E. s bustly studying. Chunnie presides over the gay gathering with as much dignity as if it were an ambassadorial committee over which he has often in his youthful dreams swung the gravel with great gusto. But, coming back to old South Bethlehem, there is the usual program to go through. Several new pieces for the Victor, candy and smokes. Sure, and there are plenty more down town. This is certainly the best typical college habitat in which to forget most completely all things pertaining to college. Even the unfinished Met. problem and the corrections on the impossible plate girder pass into oblivion over the rites of this Bohemian fraternity. But it all must end, as there is just enough time to drop in at Jake's before the inevitable moving picture show.

This handsome, tow-haired youth, familiarly known as "Pork" hails from the cement-covered hills of Northampton, and claims the far-famed Allentown as his birth-place. He prepped in the same burg, and made good, even amidst the wiles of wine, women and song; then in his thirst for knowledge he came to take Bill's electrical course. Three years of dabbling with "Pop" Klein's engines, boilers and indicators proved to "Deg" the misery of single life, and accordingly he became smitten, made numerous trips to Nazareth and finally was sentenced for life. He had met, wooed and won the fair Nazarene. Chances are mighty good for Howard to succeed, since he is thus provided with a governor so carly in life. The only danger is that the habits contracted in Senior Machine Design might stick. Let's hope they don't. To conclude—we have pictured "Deg" as a hero, student, husband, musician and embryo engineer. What more can we say?

He does not throw it; he is a quiet, unassuming chap—note picture. "Diefe' is some of our local talent, but far above par. He is one of Baldy's landing places, but he comes up after each encounter, smiling. And here's a tip. "I who at some times spend at others spare; Divided between carelessness and care."

On August 11, 1890, the proverbial stork braved the terrors of the colds of Long Island and safely deposited a blue eyed baby boy on its wind swept land. When he arrived, there was quite a commotion, and strange to say, there has been quite a commotion ever since, wherever he has happened to be. After the eventful days of boyhood, "Rusty" went to Lawrenceville School, N. J., where he prepared for Lehigh. He finally earned his right to a place at the latter institution in spite of interfering athletics, and kept his class well to the front, due to his athletic skill.

"Play fair or lose."

"Dris," such a quiet, unassuming chap with such an unsophisticated expression, would lead one to believe that he has just left the shadows of his paternal home in Somerville. But, on the contrary, he is one of the most gallant knights of the Round Table. His "lovin'"? propensities have led him over half of Lehigh and Northampton Counties, and he knows all the "shady"? nooks and corners, as well as Bethlehem mansions like one of the native sons. Have you ever wandered some little distance from Packer Hall and met him strolling along lost in the charms of some fair lassie.' We have. William Rothermel, better known as plain ''Billie,'' was born in Philadelphia on August 31st, 1893. William received his early education in the ''City of Brotherly Love'' and prepared at the Central Manual Training School. His mind turned to the study of rocks and during his four years' stay at Lehigh, he has been a material aid to the Geology Department in determining which formations were plain Pennsylvania Dutch and which ones belonged to the Scottish era.

"Hot Dog!"

A genuine pleasure to chronicle the annals of a man like Faust. His career has been one long succession of cuts, and arguments with the South Bethlehem police force. Early in his college life he acquired the habit of muffling his alarm clock and pulling up the covers as "Old Packer" up the covers as "Old Packer" tolled eight. Concerning the police force, silence is imperative. But, withal, he has been one of the best men in our class, is square and honorable, and calls everybody his friend. Would make a fine man for a glee club with that stentorian voice of his, and a good one for dinner parties toohandsome and distinguished looking as he is. "The motto of chivalry is also the motto of wisdom, to serve all, love only one."

Years ago, when Rankyne was but a little thing, he had a great hunch; he decided to become a mechanical engineer. Now, whether this thought emanated from his inert genius, or whether it came from close association with plows, harrows and other rural machinery, I do not know, but it came. In scouting around for a suitable environment to develop this genius, somebody told Rankyne that there was a college up in Pennsylvania where blue shirts and uncreased trowsers were tolerated, so Rankyne came to Lehigh. Since coming here he has been a faithful exponent in cultivating these tastes, and withal he has managed to tolerate such weaknesses in his fellow-men as dancing and tea-sipping. "Silence is more cloanent than words"

February 7, 1891, was a day that will live long in the recitals of the 'voldest inhabitant' in the little town of Catasauqua on the Lehigh. On that day a child was born into one of the leading families of the community and the thermometer fell twenty degrees in as many minutes. Although there is much uncertainty as to the connection between these two facts, subsequent events have proved that Nature had no cause to quail at our friend 'Bart.' During his course at Lehigh he has been a prominent member of the Steinmetz Club, and a brilliant future no doubt awaits him—in the General Electric apprentice course.

"For we that live to please must please to live"

Good ole Giff! The first breath he ever took was in the thriving town of Jersey City—near enough to the Great White Way to become instilled with the snap of the gay life, still far enough off to be uncontaminated by the lure. Fearing the future engineer might be led astray, he was taken at an early age to Philadelphia where under the tutelage of the teachers of the high school there he sprouted into robust manhood. Then off for greater conquests he headed for the Bethlehems and entered the C. E. Department. He immediately put himself in solid with the crowd, gaining favor with the department by serving lemonade at "Mac's" prohibition meetings, and making friends with the boys by being an all round trump on the campus. Varied are the pursuits of our young hero, but he's a hard worker at anything he goes after, whether it be shaking a festive leg at the Colosseum or biting the wood from a lacrosse stick.

"I'll leave the breast of mother Earth and fly among the clouds,'

Fresh from the innocence of Hillman Academy came he, and, in the course of his wanderings he slipped off the train at South Bethlehem. After the train had disappeared he happened to see a sporty looking guy, and followed him. Thus he started up South Mountain.

"Ah," said he, "so onward and upward I'll climb, 'til at last I'll get ahead of that 'wop."

But Johnny didn't care much for that up and down direction encountered in passing through Lehigh. And it came to pass that an idea flickered up in his brain; "I should worry about these hills and get myself seasick," quoth he; "I'll get above them all."

Rutherford, N. J.

"Men of few words are the best,"

Richard Dudley Jordan, El. Met., first saw the light of day in New York, but early, chafing under its confining influences, removed himself to Rutherford, N. J., from which place he now hails. The local high school and Mt. Hermon fitted him for the higher education and Lehigh, "Dud" was quite active in athletics both before and during his first year at college, but on account of conflicts with his social calendar he was forced to give up this form of recreation and take up bowling, at which he has made quite a hit. During his last two years at least, "Dud" has demonstrated in his work at college that length of head sometimes varies directly as length of leg. As a result, we predict that he will soon make a success in his chosen profession.

Many generations of childest feet have sounded in the halls and most of them have the name of John Dennis Kavanaugh. They all have denied the "Jawn," but what else could "J" stand for? The present holder of the title started his noise back in 1892 and the noise is still with us. Since his arrival here he has revised the college in general and the M. E. Department, its literature in particular. We hesitate to think how low the standard of our M. E.'s would be if he had picked out some other place. While here he has been noted for his generosity in contributing to the various civic causes, especially the Police Department.

"O woe is me for the merry life."

Like all men worth while, Bill has a past! But space forbids our detailing that past, and we must be content with a word here and there. Williamsport claims the honor of his birth place, and well may she do so. She was named after William.

From Sanford School, Bill entered Lehigh, a good student and in all requirements, well prepared. Since his debut he has well upheld his Alma Mater. He knows Intergal Calculus by her first name.

Bill blew in late in the fall of 1910, and has entertained us continuously ever since. Elbert Hubbard, Bryan, Pinchot, none of these holds a candle with friend Bill. The Chatauqua tried hard to induce him to mount its platform, but he felt it his duty to remain with us and help Windy teach Railroads.

"There's no gambling like politics."

The Flying Dutchman from Germantown. Pa., left the ancient ivy colored halls of Haverford for the more aggressive life of Lehigh. Henry lived up to his name of Flying Dutchman in two ways, viz., he did not stick to water, and instead of trying to beat around the Horn he tried to beat everybody in sight. When it comes to holding down first base, all Crockie had to do was to plant those number eighteens of his on the bag and there he stays. Kurtz found college too strenuous for him, so he left us for the lucrative vocation of office boy in a Brokers' firm. Rumor has it that he met his "Kismet" in Germantown, and that he will be married this Spring.

Robert Augustus Leadlein, E.E.

"I never drank a glass of beer in my life."

It happened on Thanksgiving Day about 22 years ago and amid the clanging of bells, that a little bashful, dark-eyed baby was born in a small Pennsylvania town known as Williamsport.

He attended the public schools of his native city, and after graduating from the Williamsport High School, entered Lehigh. He came here thinking it would make a good winter resort, and after staying here a short time, he found it to be an agreeable summer resort, also. He has further manifested his approval of the place by signifying his intention to remain here another year and expose himself thoroughly to the E. E. course.

Bob has always been active in college affairs, participating in all the shows and on the board of the college paper. He has rendered a further service to Lehigh by his good influence on Todd, in keeping him from straying too far from the "straight and narrow path."

He is a member of the Delta Tau Delta Fraternity.

Do your stunt."

Charles attended Catasauqua public schools, F. & M. Academy and Beth. Prep., enough for a little fellow like him. He is one of those real quiet fellows, and you wouldn't see the other miners. Some day he is going to fool us all and let out a big holler, so keep your eyes open.

Verner Thatcher Lawshe, Ch. E.

Newark, N. J.

"He does it with a good grace, but I do it more natural,"

With Newark's best brass band playing "You've got your mother's big blue eyes" this "Handsome Hazel, the Heartbreaker'' was first blinded "By the Light of the Silvery Moon' in the year of our Lord 1891. This catastrophe is not blamed on Newark by any means, as New Jersey never was known to have any choice in her selection of "Future Fem-Sem Favorites." Nevertheless, this personification of innocence wished itself in Lehigh just four years previous to the current date, and now that same band plays "Look What I Was Four pears ago, Boom! Boom! Take a Look at Me Now.' Already this would-be chemist has discovered a fluid which will dissolve any known substance of the present day. We heartily congratulate "our Ch. E." but still we wonder in what sort of vessel he intends preserving said fluid.

Arthur Bruton Leonard, M. E.

Baltimore, Md.

"A friend in need 's a friend indeed."

"Bru" was given to the world in 1893, and in 1911 was handed to the bright and bragen faculty here for a better polish on his "ivory belfry." But Allentown was too near, and his time was soon divided between that "Queen City", and sleep (which was little). A good fellow and fond of blondes-with that foundness returned, makes it necessary to enter into the list of his other accomplishments. He is also a very good "draughtsman." To say the least, though, his mail is more regular than the sun. He is a regular guy, too, reading Booth Tarkington, Upton Sinclair and Rex Beach.

"Eat, drink and be merry, for to-morrow you may die."

"Count" Leslie was born in Rio de Janiero, Brazil, Feb. 11, 1892. Early realizing the peculiarly civilizing al vantages of this Pennsylvania German community he prepared for Lehigh at Swarthmore Prep. and entered Lehigh with the Class of 1914. After passing through the Freshman and Sophomore years of the electrical course with varying vicissitudes, he decided to put an end to himself, when he went canoeing and didn't retarn. His friends were relieved, however, to find that it was nothing more serious than marriage which led him to take such sudden leave of Lehigh's interesting Sophomore summer school. Reversion to type has set in, and Lee is now a prosperous textile manufacturer in Rio de Janiero.

He is a member of the Theta Xi Fraternity.

"There seems to be no object to life."

Oh, wild December night! What have you fired into our midst? Twas in the year 1892, long before the Big Wind, that this sleek, plump youngster was thrust upon us. Yes, it was long before the days of red-rubber soles and tortoise-shell glasses. With his native Washington lisp, he came to our campus, filled with flowery-phrased resolutions, and thirst for a chemical intellect. Now, Rome was not built in a day, and it took six days to make Heaven and Earth, so after only four years, why should the Chemistry Department give our George up, as hopeless? No! No! Never! Stick around, instructors!

".A boy is better unborn than untaught,"

Born in Che-Kiang, in 1891. His ambition to see the world prompted him to become a student in U. S. A. He landed at first in the University of Wisconsin, 1911, and registered as an agricultural student. But soon he changed his mind and has chosen chemical engineering, the many sided-course in Lehigh.

"And, I think A. C. is good dope."

"Civil Engineer" Loos, C. E., was initialed in accordance with his future vocation. But his fond parents had the wrong dope. They did not calculate on the malignities of fate. His blond hair rising above his literary appearing forehead repel any idea of "Cris" being an engineer. He has made a good start in becoming the treasurer of the Y. M. C. A. Alexander C. MacHardy, E. M.

Greenssburg, Pa.

"Them was the good old days when men was men, Mac started a riot in Inverm— Scotland."

But realizing that there were no regular mines or miners in the Mitherlan' he came forth to ye land o' the free and adopted Greensburg as a temporary domain.

After doing time in Greensburg High, Mac decided to give Cornell a try; and somehow old Sibley did not make good. At any rate we found him here in the fall of 1910 with his baseball glove and a set of Cornellian and White '13's. He discovered that the only class in college was 1914, and after playing baseball with 1913 on Founder's day he switched, and has helped beat Lafayette every year since.

Alexander has a great future before him—and some past—and we feel no anxiety for his success as a miner.

Henry H. Mayers, B. S. Ch. E.

Reading, Pa.

".All that glitters is not gold."

Reading has been known cany years for its beer and pretzels, but it was not until May 9, 1893, that it was actually placed on the map, due to the appearance of a little red-headed boy whom they named Henry H. No, he was not named after Henry of the Chemistry lab. In September, 1910, he entered Lehigh and his name was changed to "Rusty." In the four years he has been with us, he has never lost his temper, and for this reason he has been well liked by all the men in college. "Rusty" has always done all he could for the college socially and athletically, and although he will probably not graduate with us, nevertheless the 1914 spirit is with him, and his cheering and pleasant countenance will always be remembered by those that knew him. "It needs brains to be a real fool."

This pink-cheeked infant first greeted the world with a smile some nineteen years ago in the city of Baltimore. Precocious from the start, Mac made rapid progress in the Book taught Blickens' stuff, and entered Baltimore Poly, at the remarkable age of 13 years. After perfecting the gentle art of bluffing, it was little trouble for him to complete his course there and in the fall of 1912 he entered Lehigh.

A buxom lad is Mac, and strong— with the ladies. The first thing he did after unpacking his trunk was to win a fair chorine-in the Mustard and Cheese. Since that time his con-quests have been many. Some think he is a shark, but I believe there is greater power in strategy than in strength.*

"Mac" was always mischievous and reckless, but nevertheless graduated from the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute in June, 1911, with no honors, and entered Lehigh in September, 1911. After spending a pleasant six months, which he will never forget, he entered into the world for a long fight. His first position was with the Baltimore Sewerage Commission. He resigned that in July, 1913, and has since been employed by the Annex Improvement Commission of Baltimore.

He entered Lehigh in the Fall of 1910 as an Electro-Met., but changed to Metallurgy in his Junior year to accept the Presidency of the Metallurgical Society. White Haven, Pa.

·· How far your eyes may pierce, I cannot tell''

The annals of White Haven have the following in red ink:—

"May 2, 1889, marks in the history of this village one of the greatest events of its existence. "Mike" Murphy arrived at an early hour and has already headed for Lehigh University. That that noble institution will be benefited by his attendance is unquestioned, and now 'tis certain that White Haven will be placed on the map."

Many things have happened since that eventful day. Mike did enter Lehigh, but unfortunately was compelled to drop out at the end of his sophomore year, on account of ill health. In 1912 Mike re-entered, and now he plans to graduate with the good old class.

Allentown, Pa.

"Hey, lend me a dime!"

One spring day 20 years ago, there was wafted on the balmy air the sounds of rejoicing. Behold! another child saw the light of day—by name Russell Meade Neff. He early developed signs of great mental acumen, graduating from that illustrious school, Allentown Prep. To his various accomplishments he has lately added that of "frissing." In his senior year at Lehigh he made an extensive study of Chimney Design, and has so developed that subject that he may be quoted as an authority. As to the future of this elongated type of human nature, much may be expected, he having a great reach and a powerful punch.

He was a precious child and early developed the ability to absorb knowledge out of the air, without the least effort. It was this habit which enabled him to graduate from Chestnut Hill Academy in time to enter college at the tender age of seventeen. ''Bunny'' has always shunned work and the lure of the fair sex. But lately a strange change has overtaken him. He has at last succumbed to the snare of the cozy corner, and to his long list of subjects mastered he now has added parlor mechanics.

"To him that hath, unto him shall be given."

On an extremely cold day in January, 1893, in the City of Baltimore, there appeared one who was destined to bring fame to the Monumental City. Milton has at sundry times tried to turn his elongated pedal extremities to good account by trying out for the track and cross-country teams. The good old pipe also has many attractions for him, but he has not given up the idea of running. "Pols" claims B. P. I. as the nurturing place for his talents before Lehigh claimed him. But it's all right now. Two vears on Old South Mountain has knocked off the rough edges and Polster bids fair to emerge from the contamination of the followers of the E. E. Department a fair example of an embryo electrical engineer.

My! we know as much about you as you do about the scan-dals of the Bethlehems. But we won't tell on you, Dave. You thought that you would like to know a little something about Chemistry, didn't you? Well, why don't you hang around the lab. any more? We like you, Dave, and Chemistry has lost its charm for us since you have left us. We liked those "summer hotel" stories, Dave, and we are wondering what the latest flights of the phantom heiresses are. Didn't you know that Dave knew all about running hotels? Yes, indeedy; Dave has risen in the ranks from bell-hop to night clerk, through all the intermediate stages of porter and barkeep. That's enough of scandal; now we can only end up by quoting that great Welsh poet Cynllyllylen, who said: "Dafydd llyr kwhyl fradje rhys copen hagen snuff!" And so it might be said of David.

"Oh! but he dances such a way!"

Dear little Willie-but halt! We must not treat him like the girls do. for he is one of authority. Didn't he become our cute little section-chief, and didn't he shine as chairman of the banquet committee and strut around with an air of authority for three weeks before the banquet-and also sneak around for three weeks after the banquet smoking the Class's Fatimas. But we forgive him for that! The cigarettes were dried out anyhow. Willie and his six-inch grin have enjoyed themselves around the various places of amusement in Bethlehem, Allentown and Rittersville for three years now, and some of us are in a quandary as to whether he will ever be able to live more than a tencent carfare away from the familiar town. L'ire-la-republique!

On July 5, 1891, there appeared in the world a babe who was subsequently named Adolfo R. Sanchez. What the "R" signifies is unknown to everyone except its owner. It must be something pretty rotten, as he refuses to divulge its meaning, and blushes every time he is asked about it. Well, to resume the chronicle of our hero's life we must say that he was ushered into this sphere in the wild and wooly island of Cuba, the land of many revolutions and the home of the insurrectos. Our here soon found that in his native domicele he would be unable to gain the knowledge which his receptive mind was always ardently seeking, so casting about for a place to further improve his brain, he hit upon Bethlehem Prep. He entered Lehigh in September, 1910, and became one of Dr. Ullman's boys. He has made a success of his four years at Lehigh, and will graduate with honors in 1914.

Percy Sanderson, B. A.

Wyncote, Pa.

"Thine canst be the words my pen has writ"

Back in the days when it was considered much fun to have a little fairy in the home, there was dropped, one bleak July day, in the lap of the little hamlet known to the natives as Bath, N. Y., a funny shaped amoeba with a happy smile on one end and ten toes on the other. The smile has been on its face ever since, despite the fact that the toes in question have led it over a rough and rocky road and into many devious by-ways. When the critter grew long enough, it was dubbed "Sandy" and was sent to most every school going, the principal one to suffer being Beth. Prep. Since entering Lehigh, he is to be seen, every now and then, at recitations in the Arts Department. After graduation he says he is going to be an "author." His college activities have consisted in palming off the rough stuff through the "Burr," and in dabbling at most everything.

He is a member of the Chi Phi Fraternity.

College Honors

Phi Club; Sophomore Cotillion Club; Scimitar Club; President, Arts and Science Club; Editor-in-chief, The Lehigh Burr.

John Joseph Santry, M. E.
New Brighton, N. Y.

"A few hesitations, is lost"

"Good old Jack." Ask him where he comes from and he will say "New York." You wouldn't like to admit it yourself if you lived in Staten Island. But the Island was not large enough for "Our John" so he cut loose and went to Westerleigh Collegiate Institution which, by the way, is the last that has ever been heard from the Institute.

We got our first view of him posting his opinion of the Sophs on the Bethlehem Police staion. He didn't get his poster up, but the force learned a few things about themselves. But Jack's activities at Lehigh

But Jack's activities at Lehigh have been varied. After fixing both the Bethlehm and the Allentown police forces (a la New York) he established what Lehigh has needed since the beginning of time: "The Sunrise Buss Route to Allentown."

There is no doubt a career awaiting Jack somewhere. Here's hoping he finds it.

He is a member of the Kappa Sigma Fraternity.

Samuel Henry Sauber, B. A.

Allentown, Pa.

"I could roll to bed with a Latin phrase and rise with a verse of Greek."

Sam was born in Milwaukee, Wis. He and Pabst made it famous. He was one year old when he came to Allentown, and he has lived here ever since-and always in the Bloody 6th Ward. He received his elementary education in the 6th Ward public schools and Allentown High School where he was the only man in his class and the second in the history of the school to complete the regular fouryear course in three years, and that with high honors. For this he was awarded a scholarship at Lehigh, where he had the distinction of teaching several Sophomore sections in French in his Junior year. He also taught Freshman German here in his senior year.

College Honors

Pres't. of Allentown-Lehigh Club, '13-'14; Founder of Club and its quarters; Secretary of Arts and Science Club, '12-'13; Assistant to Prof. Fox in French during his illness, 1913; Assistant to Prof. Palmer in German during his trip abroad, '13-'14.

Joseph J. Scatko, M. E. New Hartford, N. Y.

"Three score years of labor"

"Joe," although he has not been with us for the past year, is still remembered by all of us as one of our hard workers. While here he not only worked hard, but took an enthusiastic interest in things about college.

He is ahead of us in that he has experienced some of the hard knocks of the world, and will be back in June to tell us about them. Keep up the good work, Joe!

Walter A. Schrempel, C. E.

South Bethlehem, Pa.

"Never was seen such an angel"

Whoa, Jerry! Want any ice, lady? No! Giddap! Well now, who wouldn't be the ice man? When it comes to ice or coal, call on Walter and you can enjoy your hot summer days and cold winter winds. Seeing that there were more engineers than necessary, Walter left us in our infant days, scholastically but not socially; Shremp, being one of our native boys, is seen at all the class festivities, and when we hear him relate of his progress so far, we are sure his success in life will be as certain as V

Edward Clever Seibert, C. E.

Baltimore, Md.

"It's clever, but is it Art?"

One can't talk about "Clever" without feeling artistic sentiments thrill his soul. For this blonde terror of the ladies (he pays so little attention to them that some have nearly been committed to Rittersville on his account) is some picture expert. We might note that he first saw the light in the aesthetic surroundings of Hagerstown, Md., but bettered his environment by removing to Baltimore before getting too old to know better. Here he studied, faithfully, we're in-formed, at the Maryland Institute, and developed his drawing ability. Note the cartoons in rear. The fellows have a respect and regard for him that is indeed notable when we consider that he entered here in midyear after "cleaning-up" in 1912, February, at that Baltimore Polytechnic place. May your success continue, Clever boy.

College Honors

Secretary, Maryland Club; Secretary, C. E. Society; Civil Engineeing Society Poster Prize, 1913.

Ernest Harrison Sellers, M. E.

Carlisle, Pa.

"Music the fiercest grief can chasm",

Ernest was born in Huntsville, Pa., but arrived at years of discretion in Carlisle, Pa. Here he availed himself of the natural resources to attend Dickinson College, but after graduation he came to Lehigh for a real, practical education, in obtaining which he is as earnest as his name. If you don't believe it, look at his college honors. Besides his scholastic activities, Ernest is some singer, as his friends of the Glee Club will testify.

Thomas Graham Shaffer, M.E.

Pittsfield, Mass.

Now, what I think, fellows."

Pittsfield, Mass., boasts of another engineer. Or perhaps this may be her first offence. How do we know?

It was a cold day in January when Tommy arrived, but beyond that we know little. But what does it matter? He entered with us, has stuck with us for four years, and now I fear we are about to lose him. He tells me he is going "way out west" as soon as he graduates. There are reasons—and REASONS—why a man should want to go west, but the French say "Cherchez la femme." Who is she, Tommy?

Tommy has not caused any revolution in science or society as yet but we believe great things are awaiting his accomplishment. He is a faithful member of the M. E. Society, and 'tis said, an officious official.

College Honors

John Schoolbred, Jr. E. E.

Baltimore, Md.

" Yes, sir, the electrical is the best"

"Schoolbred," as Baldy calls him, is one of those descendants of B. P. I. Johnny is just what his name says he is, and he doesn't seem to outgrow it. He is one of those hard-working Electricals—you have to hand him that. He's got the nerve, and the endurance, to get away with it. Perhaps when he gets all this "wattstuff" out of his system, he'll stop being school-bred, and be college-bred.

"A Huntsman Bold"

"Sailor hails from the Capital City; he prepared at Friends School, which accounts for his friendlines. After some years, he reached Lehigh. While here, he has learned to appreciate the feeling of Thornburg's "Melody in F" and that most structural problems can be solved by "moments" of reason. Here's hoping! Good old Jerry!

Edward Beisel Snyder, E. M. Hazleton, Pa.

" "You're a credit to their teaching"

Edward Beisel Snyder, alias "Eddie, cropped out on the hills of Midvale on December 13, 1890. whether or not the proximity of the much-sought black diamond affected the color of his hair, is a question. Nevertheless, it is the admiration of all the "Deutsche Madchen." Sandy Run was no place for Beisel, and was soon abandoned for Hazleton, but not fully comprehending the "Yoxi Mash" of the "common-school" teacher there, he later took leave for the Williamsport Dickinson Seminary where he completed his preparation for Lehigh. His activity at prep, school was a forerunner of his college activity, and his ability to make and keep friends is the secret of his widespread popularity. Upon his return to the coal bearing soil with a higher learning in the extractive industry. his success is assured.

Harold Burton Staab, C. E.

Northampton, Mass.

"How are you, old top?"

On Jan. 6, 1891, great excitement reigned in the city of Northampton. Mass., when Harold Burton Staab first opened his eyes to the light of day. After passing through the elementary stages of his education, "Punk" went to Massachusetts State College to prepare for Lehigh, and entered her portals in the fall of 1910. Early in his freshman year he became known for his pleasant smile and good fellowship. At the end of his freshman year he left college to enter business, where we are sure he will rapidly become a captain of industry and make a place for himself in the world of finance.

"Nothin' doin': I'm busu"

Slowly the snow-white walls of Charley Taylor's dream were transforming castles in Spain to South Bethlehem's shores. With grace they embraced the gymnasium where many creaky joints and starved muscles would cavort in the much-required exercises prescribed by King Bo. ey.

Ah, and they shielded from winter's icy blasts and summer's piercing rays the inland sea where 80,000 gallons of filtered juice lay imprisoned. We gaze, friend, on the placid surface of these many gallons.

The aquarium is filled, but no human fish has dented the aqua. Who shall be the first to sample the giant tub? "f," saith Billy Sheridan, shedding his wraps with much wrapidity. "The Scotch can't beat the Dutch," said Wm. H., as he splashed half-garbed into the unheated depths.

Thus, instead of the proverbial bottle being cracked over the side, the christening was performed by plunging wooden blocks into the stream.

"Sir, 'tis my occupation to be plain."

If you think all the A. B.'s worry, you are mistaken, because anyone seeing "Strassy's" beaming countenance would decide that it is folly to make such a statement. "Abram" resided in the city down the river and spent two years with our old neighbor Lafayette, and then a happy inspiration came upon him. Consequently we have our rosy-cheeked comrade with us bringing sunshine where-ever he goes. Upon graduation he expects to take up a thorough study of anthropoly, and we have no doubt as to his success.

Lewis Thornburg, C. E.

South Bethlehem, Ps.

"If I were down it. - "

Thorny the Younger, or The Vest-pocket Edition entered Lehigh from Moravian College. The biographer thinks be missed his calling when changing from a properous candidate for the ministry to L. U. C. E.

Lewie' soon showed himself a student by capturing one of the coeted Tau Beta Pi keys. After achieving such honors, however, he began to take life easy and during Senior year was found to be "one of the boys." Lewis is also an astronomet of some note, and perhaps (but who knows!) he has used his heaven! knowledge to advantage on moonlight nights. We fear that his pedagogical tendencies will lead him into the trodden path where he shall be able to keep up family traditions.

He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

"Has the 12:10 left yet?"

This modern Terpsichorean artist and prize tango specialist first opened his blue eyes in Williamsport. He attended the local grammar and high schools and choose Lehigh as the proper college to complete his education, that he might take his place alongside the other electrical geniuses. The close proximity to Allentown also favored Lehigh, While in college "Visill" worked hard and proved a good student. Lewis F. Turnbull, B. S. Chem.

Baltimore, Md.

"He is a man who hopes to be a chemist."

On the evening of March 11, 1893, Petersburg's fame was added to by the birth of a babe christened Lewis F. We do not know much about his early life, but in September, 1910 he came with us an innocent bashful youth of 17, leaving home for the first time. For some time the traits which characterized him at first ruled supreme, but his stay at Lehigh has so changed him that those who knew him in 1910 now find him very dif-ferent. With all this against him, Turn has brought to himself the esteem of his class-mates. A more reliable and likeable fellow one would not wish for a friend. So now, do we wish for him the best of success in his worldly undertakings, and we confidently expect him to become the tennis champion of the country.

K. G. VanSickle, M. E.

Olyphant, Pa.

"Art not asham'd to look upon this heard?"

Behold! Our K. G. VanSickle, the man with the mania (and the ability, too-we must admit that) for raisin a moustache! He has had it hacked off by force, he has cut it off himself at times, yet in the end whenever ne desires he can raise said adornment very quickly-in less time, in fact, than it takes Burns to run this two miles. When Van is not fondly putting "coaxing liniment" on his moustache, he spends his spare time in taking all kinds, all shapes, all views, and all sorts of photographs-anything he can see. And he happened to see some of us in decidedly characteristic poses, as is proven by the results of his little camera. So saying, he takes off his cap and his raincoat and, running in front of the crowd says "All right, fellows, let's ing practice off for to-day; Hip! give one Flicker, then we'll call cheer-

Lebanon, Pa.

"Hoch der Kaise:!"

"Deacon" hails from the city of Lebanon (he says) famous for bologna and iron. We take his word for it, as we are too busy to investigate. Arriving from Beth. Prep., he started by working hard both with his studies and college activity. He took part in both football and track. "Peggy," as he is called by his close friends, is one of those "I should worry" A. B.'s, and although he knows that these poor engineers are not a cultured lot, he hopes that some day he will be able to hely them when he has "Rev." before his name.

Hung Chueh Wang, E. E.

Tientsin, China

"In wisdom, I abound."

Born Oct. 29, 1892, in Tientsin, the seaport of Peking, Wang prepared for college in Chihli Provincial College, China, and came to the United States, entering Lehigh University in September, 1910. His characteristic traits are hard work and little talk. The greatness of electricity and the Electrical Department lured him into investigating that course, and when the proper time comes, he will no doubt be able to furnish the world with some valuable information.

George Hunt Weber, C. E.

Washington, D. C.

"Behold the Senator!"

"Snappy Joe," Lehigh's "Dead Shot Dick," entered Lehigh from the Western High School, Washington, D. C. He received his military training in the High School Cadets. Joe entered the electrical course at Lehigh but due to an ardent desire to emulate Windy Wilson, he changed his course to Civil and as to throwing the male cow, he carries off all honors. Joe became prominently identified with the defunct gym team, won his "L" in this sport, and was elected captain of the team that never lived to be beaten. After this misfortune, to be beaten. After this mistorious, he took up rifle shooting and wrestling. His prowess as a "135 pounder" has been shown in the recent meets with Cornell and Penn. As range captain of the rifle team, "Bridgie" may be found any Thursday evening in the basement of Packer Hall, shooting a match with the Mexican Insurrectos or the University of Tokio, "through the mail."

We will now drop the dephant and take up a weighty subject—C. Riley Williams, hetter known as "Pop." Pop first saw the light of day one bright September morn a few years before the Civil War. We may pass lightly over Riley's early life until we come to his prep. school days. Papa entered St. James' School at Hagerstown where he acheived great fame—being the only boy in the school with long pants and for that reason being elected captain of several teams.

Pop has always been popular with the students here at Lehigh, but he enjoys his greatest popularity down town, due to his helpful disposition—closing Charlie's every night for Brick, for instance. Papa, besides enjoying the distinction of being the heaviest man in the Senior Class, is noted for the number and variety of his nicknames, a few of which are: "Pop," "Lead-foot," "Applewoman." Plizy" and "Janitor."

"None but the brave deserve the fair."

Born in "Dear Old Tennessee,"
July 9, 1892, and after years of
"prep'ing "In the Blue Ridge

Lehigh in 1910. First year and a half uneventful, except for hours of worry over Math. Then on a bleak December morn he married "A Girl in the Heart of Maryland," and came to
"The Little Town of Bethlehem," and lived happy ever after!

He is a member of the Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Louis Earl Wilson, C. E.

Govans, Md.

"Alive? He might be dead for all I know."

"Doc" was announced as a bouneing baby boy in Piqua, Ohio, along about 1891. For rearons not known we next find him in Maryland, in which state he received his preliminary education in various schools. In 1911 he moored his bark off South Bethlehem. Besides reforming the course in R. R. is to a greater or less degree, "Doc" has the distinction of raising the best moustache for the current year of 1913, but after finding himself classed with Bauman, Goyne and Wolfe, he abandoned this artistic project. They say this "fellow" has travelled extensively, leaving a trail of broken hearts behind at York, Lansford and Iron Hill, but it is doubtful.

Ralph Hartman Woelfel, C. E.

Freeland, Pa.

"An unrestrained but quiet man."

Once upon a time in the early nine-term a rumor was cast abroad that the Emperor of Prussia was given notification of the birth in his lowly province of Bavaria of a youth who showed signs of becoming a leader of men. We still believe the rumor, but Ralph denies his "birthplace" and prefers to honor the obscure town of Freeland in the country of "God-knows-where." At any rate, he appeared among us in 1910 and his career rose like a meteor capped by the receipt of his "Heavenly Reward"—Tau Beta Pi. Since then he has returned to the by-paths of obscurity, save for his work on the wrestling squad. All who know him like him and are mighty glad to call him a friend. May we always do so. When be graduates, "Girls, Beware!"

College Honors

George F. Wolfe, C. E.

"Only this, and nothing more."

Born in Scottdale in close vicinity to a brick-yard, which accounts for coloring of hair, as the dust-filled air left a permanent stain, he lived a quiet, uneventful life, always convinced that women, wine and song are detrimental to mankind, and he has avoided them whenever possible.

College Honors

Lewis Augustus Wright, M.E.

Kensington, Md.

"Who makes a furnance of his mouth and keeps his chimney burning."

Lewis Augustus, at his birth, was endowed with more ambition than is usually bestowed upon a whole family. By way of comparsion he makes Napoleon look like a "piker." His early education was completed by his graduation from Central High of Washington. He entered Lehigh with the class of fifteen, but his besetting sin urged him on until he has worked ahead to the class of fourteen. What of his future? Well—all that we can say is this: that we miss our guess if he doesn't start something big before he finishes.

Leling, Hunan, China.

Trained in private schools of the old type, in which Chinese classics and literature were studied until he was 15 years old, Yeh entered the "modern" school and began to study A, B, C, D and . . , , , : and so forth. After attending five schools remaining about a year in each of them, the last being College of Finance in Peking, he took competetive examination in Peking and secured a Government scholarship. He arrived in America in September, 1910, and then entered Lehigh.

Carl Diehl Zimmerman, E. E.

Buffalo, N. Y.

"Life's been a jolly good joke to him."

Carl D. Zimmerman, otherwise known as "Zim," hailed from Buffalo. He is small of stature, but we all know what a mighty man he is "Zim" would probably be with us now if it had not been for a little argument with the Physics Department at the end of his Sophomore year.

If he had remained at Lehigh, there is not a doubt but what he would be the champion lightweight wrestler of the day, and one of the honor men of the class. We all wish Zim the best of success at Rensselaer Polytechnic, and we are sorry not to have him graduate with us.

He is a member of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity.

Senior Vote

The campaign is over and the polls are closed. After smoking many bum cigars and drinking all the free wet goods being handed around, the Committee has finally, with the aid of some steamroller work, been enabled to finish the Senior Ballot, resulting in the following verdict:

We will have to award the cup to Gilroy for being the handsomest, although McConnor evidently thinks he is. Owen won hands down for the brightest, and Bailey ran away with the Best Athlete vote in the same manner. That Nachman thought he was the brightest and Wolfe thought he was the biggest athlete seems to have made little difference with the real balloting. Wolfe, the aeme of perfection in his own eyes, only if the class can be relied upon. He thinks he is the best athlete, and the best fusser, also the best husband, and to crown all his victories we hand him the honor of being the biggest freak. Gawd knows how his mother must have hated children, to bring him up like this. McConnor, like, Wolfe, also reaps a rich reward, carrying off the highest votes for the wittiest, he also thinks he is the wittiest, as well as the most typical college man, and is the baby of the class. He is the biggest bluffer and, last but not least, the most conceited. Todd leads the field for the best fusser, but he certainly won't make the best husband, because Jack Williamson has that roped and tied. Old George Flick is the busiest, has done the most for his class, is the best known and will make the best leader of men, but we don't think George got more than his share, even after that rich catch. "Eck" Goyne with the tin box thinks he is the busiest man, and he must be the windiest, although he had a hard race with "Nut" Kavanaugh for that position. After his boast of a speech at every college meeting, we were compelled to give him laurels for being the biggest bore. Although Kavanaugh did not beat "Eck" for windiest, he sailed into the noisiest with ease. Lee Packard, we knew, would get the most popular, and we were glad to see him turn out to be the best fellow and the most musical. Green shines at the Fem. Sem., and Todd holds up our side of the river for the Bishopthorpers. Our grouchiest man is Poust, and the other extreme, our best natured, is Galloway. Lawshe is the best dressed man in the class. You know he was on the Epitome Board, and is Manager of the Lacrosse team. The class thinks Bill Bailey is the most likely to succeed, and they followed this up by a necessary requisite—that of most reliable. And he will also be the best engineer. Nachman and Nordenholt are the worst knockers, but you know what is said about people that always kick about what they are getting. Nachman seems to be the choice for best business man (?). Maybe knocking things continually gave Nordenholt his gift of gab, for he is proclaimed the silvery-tongued orator. We tie the blue ribbon to "Dick" Brady for the bashfullest, but even at that we know it isn't meant around college, for he didn't pull a vote for the least known, which was won by Sauber, whom we had pointed out to us recently. Faherty beat out "Bill" Bailey for the most religious. When a man lies down to eat and coasts down the hill to classes on a three cent sled—and gets the vote for being tardiest at that—we cannot withhold the vote of laziest from him, so Penniman gets it. Liebig, the Dutchman, gets our congratulations for being funniest. Burns slipped under the ropes and got away with the biggest Grafter, the biggest enthusiast and the most original. We hope the man who is the "Most Perfect Lady" is made of Sterner stuff and will prove it to our satisfaction later. Merwin will have to get a new face to prove that he isn't the homeliest. The President of the Ananias Club is our well-known friend and most cheerful liar, "Ned" Howard. The most generous is "Dick" Peale, while Degler is the biggest tightwad, and although Burdick didn't draw a vote for the most generous, he managed to be the biggest rounder, so what's the inference. Bland will make our best professor, and Downs and Sanderson ran a dead heat for the best journalist. Forster is our fiend and he will make our most promising exponent of the gospel if he gets his hair cut and shaves off that moustache. Somebody thought VanSickle could sing, but he couldn't prove it, so Sellers walked off with it. Sanderson will be our poet and Seibert our artist when we print the 1914 Sponge. Our best lawyer is "Biff" Owen, and his fraternity brother, "Tol" Gatch, will win the class cup. The men who voted for themselves, evidently having received only one vote for the class cup, are Bailey, Cameron, Church, Cooper, Gilroy, Gemmel, Galloway, Jay, Mayers, Merwin, Woelfel and Wilson.

Opinions

None but a group of college seniors could muster such a collection of opinions as expressed on the Senior Ballot. Nothing escaped the muck rake, and most everything has been thoroughly dragged through the much and will now be exposel for the first time to the light of day.

As can be inferred from the following, our course professors are highly thought of. Sterner declines to state outright his opinion, for, as he says: Mc (I am under McKibben), and Orr wants to know "How much he weighs," while Zimmerman wants to know "Whaddye mean?" Old Skipper is 100°, any way you take him, while of "My Father's Furnace" it has been said "Gawd! How he hates himself."

In speaking of other course professors, Leonard says, "Have a heart!" and Hartdegen shifts the responsibility by "Letting Emery drive." Lewis thinks they are a bunch of "Melancholy Spirits" of which Graham states there are "57 varieties," and another adds "Of Mixed Nuts."

The instructors, according to Galloway, need their pay raised, since they look under-fed. Owen states that it is quantity—not quality—where according to Nachman "Ignorance is bliss," for as Bland says they are "Dealers in second hand knowledge," and Leonard gives up the ghost by saying "Shoot quick!"

According to one student, "Relentless Harold's Hobby," the Y. M. C. A. is a noble cause, while they never did Lewis any harm and the only advantage derived by another student was from the "gratis 'phone" installed there.

* * * * *

Merwin wants to know where the Chapel is, and Weber thinks the benches are too hard to sleep on, which probably accounts for his absence. Charnock says it is a clearing house for Math. problems, and another thinks it is a welcome study period at the eleventh hour. Duncan thinks the answer to "Why boys leave college" is "The Faculty," which Nordenholt thinks is a Thorny path, and Jay simply and expressively says "Oh, Hell." Brady says the good die young and if the bunch are any good it must be that they are fossils of what has passed away long ago.

There is too much cheese with the Mustard and Cheese, which according to Bailey is a good leg show—and he ought to know, being president of the Y. M. C. A. Burns wants to know who hit him, when they ask his opinion on it, and we don't see why he shouldn be hit, for we thought only members of the Cheese could legitimately collect ancient hen fruit. Brady thinks the Minstrel show is the ''Black Plague,'' and Hartdegen advises us to ''Keep it dark,'' while several think it was a ''Fraim-up.''

Senior Class Book

The Supply Bureau gets several long Lehighs and Brady says "You can't play every instrument in the band, Freddie," Why Hartdegen characterizes it as the "Ash Box" we cannot say. Several wish to know where the surplus is, for, as Faherty says, it is worse than three balls, and there should be some. Our thinks it is too "Tiply," while Graham has the idea that it is "authorized graft" with "Shylock at the head of it," as Charnock says. Krause advises us confidently that it is allied with the steal plant, and far be it from us to contradict such an assertion.

Jay quite surprised us with the remark that the College lectures were too full of trees, and Turnbull says "Back to the woods." Green says he will take an upper berth, and Galloway would rather sleep at home. We agree with Hartlegen that it is in part an exchange of compliments.

Now comes our big noise—The Band—otherwise known as Church music, which has too much brass, according to Turnbull, since it reminds one of a collection at the door. It is good for three selections when Quast listened to it, but we have to hand it to Jimmy, considering the few secret practices it held in Drown Hall, and it was something to blow about.

* * * * *

Doe!! here and prosper'' is a misnomer, for we as engineers believe in 'Safety First,'' as per Zimmerman. Owen's plea is "'Have a heart, women!'' and Bianco wants a tent put over it. Our lack of opinions on this topic is due to the fact that a number referred us to Merwin, Captain of the 12:10 car.

* * * * *

Having been well vaccinated, the committee now handles the Colosseum dope with impunity, much of which was discarded for eugenic reasons. It is without a doubt, as Graham puts it, a fine place for wrestling, and Zimmerman waxes poetic in its praise, quoting "A rag, a bone and a hank of hair." Tripe and K. M.'s must be synonomous, but when referred to as a poultry yard, we are left in the dark. On with the dance, let joy be unrefined. For further information, we refer you to Richardson.

Lacillein says ask Todd about Mealey's, and Todd thinks it Allentown's 400 (What!). Krause knows there is a fine view from the floor, and Shaffer cautions us "not to let your foot slip," which might be embarrassing at times.

* * * * *

At our good old 15c. standby, the "Fump," you can have a "stinking good time," as Bianco cays, for which reason, we suppose, Orr wants it put "under the hood." Brady cays it has a "scent that was never coined," and Woelfel says "Call the Health Officer, he's in again!" Give it air, anyway, and it may recover.

* * * * *

The Commons, Palace of the King, is a "tough joint," also a "Swill Place." Browns wants to know "What d'ye mean, you lost your dog?" and Nordenhol tasks: If I have to use a stomach pump, what does King George Mathews?" "Tis not, however, to reason why, 'tis best to eat and die, with Bianco. However that may be, this is one Commons where King George is in favor of Irish Home Rule.

That the boys have seen the snakes and signed the pledge there can be no doubt after reading the following list of beverages which were favorites. Loos prefers Noodle Soup. A loud soup is the pride of any aristocrat's table. Stanb wants Whale Oil, and Green says his favorite is "any treat." Katsup! Gallavay stands by and Turnbull takes H₂SO₄, with Browne a close second on Carbolic Acid. Higgins' drawing ink and tango tea are also cooling beverages. Spring water (honest)) for Hartdegen, and Bra ly takes that stuff the children cry for with the name on every bottle—"Fletcher's Castoria."

Beans for Burns, and Chewing Gum for Penniman in a reclining attitude are rung in as foods. "Hamburger with" seems to touch Gifford, and "Pretzels with" for Gilroy. Hot dogs for Packar I. Nuts to the——We mean Danner.

Sport of All Nations—"Throwing the Bull." Penniman gets his three hours "running to college." Did any one ever see him run anywhere? Merwin thinks making the 12:10 sufficient exercise, and another Allentown athletic stunt is Indoor Athletics at Mealey's. W. J. Orr takes his constitutional in "Interviewing the Faculty." A few other forms of sport suggested are "Hunting Wild Chickens," "Braiding Noodles," and "Playing Tiddle-de-Winks," the latter being Burdick's.

How to spend our spare moments profitably is a serious question. Gifford solves it by rolling the "bones," and Quast believes study to be the best form of recreation, that is, when there is nothing else available; but according to Hadaway we can always pass away a pleasant or otherwise hour by "pounding the ear." Faherty takes his pleasure in seeing Bethlehem, and Sanderson, as might be supposed, is a staunch backer of "Parlor Wrestling."

The Metallurgists stand by their course in the matter of books. Merwin's taste, which must all be in his mouth, reads "Algemeine Hutten Kunde," and Lewis gets a drag by carrying around "My Metallurgical Calculation." Weber's preference runs to meal books, Cameron's to check books, and Baldwin's to pocket books. We are looking for a circulating library of these books, ourselves, at present. Our infant prodigy, Laedlein, asserts that Calculus is his favorite, while overworked Lawshe selects the phone book.

Our choice in music is what really shows how aesthetic our tastes are. Laedlin brings back tender memories of bygone days when he asks us to sing "And they moved poor Nellie's grave to dig a sewer." Who cannot recall the old homestead and the loved ones there when Browne requests "Father, trim your toenails, you're tearing all the sheets," Zimmerman wants us to render "Keg of My Heart," and Faherty's favorite is "I'm a Rambling Wreck." Lewis proves it to us by sticking up for "Oi! Oi! Mazzletof," and Owen is reminded of something pleasant when he hears "Here Comes Her Daddy Now." Packard falls for "The Curse of an Aching Heart." Weber resurrects "Arrawannah" from her grave, and Gifford fesses up for "I'm Hiding Neath the Rock of Ages."

The Seniors evidently don't loaf, or they are ashamed to confess it, for not many would commit themselves. A number prefer to loaf in bed, and others select Charlies. Brady picks out "any old port in a storm," and we guess Brady must be under the delusion that the weather is unsettled permanently.

Our greatest achievements thus far in life are very numerous, and we could only select the most meritorious. Gatch's greatest is "Sticking in college this long." Faherty, according to himself, did Prob. 14 in Metallurgy, by himself. Burdick caught the 11.30 car once, and in a moment of weakness, Lewis paid his Lehigh Laundry bill. Young Packard beat the brass drum in the band, and how well do we remember. Goyne caims he has made a speech at every college meeting. Alas for McConnor. He lent Todd ten dollars.

* * * * *

To what depths of infamy we have descended can be imagined from a list of the worst things that were ever done by us. Baird subscribed to the Brown and White. If he didn't pay for it, we might move this up to the previous set of opinions. Wilson, poor fellow, took a walk with "Bill" Hendricks once, and Simpson stayed to hear Burns talk. Gemmel got stuck by buying a cosine, and Abbott, a self-confessed crook, cheated Pete Koch—for which we congratulate him. Lewis tried to preach morality to a Bethlehem dame. We remind him again that charity begins at home. Seibert studied for a Railroad Ouiz, and Lawshe voted for compulsory exercise.

Who hasn't felt ambition stirring in his breast at times? And seniors are no exception. Merwin wants to own the last car. L. Orr would like to convince Mack that a pipe don't stink. We don't know whether he means a sewer pipe or the substitute he smokes. Sanderson has a worthy ambition in aspiring to triplets and twins. Laedlin wants to graduate (no time limit specified) and Woelfel wishes to be taxed under the Income Law.

* * * * *

Dunn thinks hauling garbage will be his future occupation, but we understand the business is picking up, and we wish him success. Tony the Wop anticipates "Shoveling smoke out of a mine." We always knew he would stand for any kind of smut. Woelfel will be busy raising a family. Protzeller, the boy conductor, will continue in his line of nickel purloiner. Danner will be a wire-skinner, and Hartdegen a ditch-digger. Lewis will "Swatthe fly."

Merwin would rather be his girl, and we hope she isn't of a reciprocating nature. Faust would rather be Skipper Eckfeldt. Baldwin values himself highly by desiring to be "any other damn fool," and Peale falls for "Lydia Pinkham." Anybody but Plug is Sanchez's plea.

Snyder thinks the hills need reforming, but Sanchez isn't satisfied with that and wants the whole damn thing reformed. According to records, Baldy Smith and Frank Perley are in need of Billy Sunday. We quote a reliable authority when Faust states the girls need reforming about here, for he ought to know.

"Love thine enemies" gives way to an "eye for an eye" when Church wishes his enemies to have to sme!! Bill Esty's breath. McConnor can imagine nothing worse than to kiss Blossom, and neither can we. Krause would do his enemies dirt by taking them with him when he dies, and Galloway will be doomed to everlasting torture for wishing that anyone should listen to Goyne talk for seven years. To marry Jake's sister or miss the 12:10 car when broke are not the most enjoyable things imaginable, either.

Senior Class Book

We have without a doubt determined definitely when the Old Street Bridge is going to fall, and we now publish our data for the first time. "When Mae finishes his traffic data and pronounces the bridge safe, it is going to fall without a doubt," says Howard. Another way of determining the time, by Burns, is "When Windy stops bluffing." Duncan says if it hasn't gone before, it will go when Lenker and Peale graduate. The exact data as determined by Lewis is "Theoretically about 1812 A. D." When Goyne begins to drive, goodbye bridge," says Weber. If Nordenholt ever gets two haircuts in one year, be prepared for the worst.

That our courses are not perfect we surmise from the suggested improvements handed in to us. Howard thinks the Civils need to "Keep Mac out of legal proceedings and neutralize Fogg's acid with a little of Fuller's basic disposition." Church wishes "Bill" and "Dutchy" canned from the electrical course. The Mechanicals want more machine design substituted, and have "Friend" removed. The chemists recommend the purchase of a shovel or an automatic spreader for Uhlmann, and Merwin suggests that a hitching post be placed outside of the Chem. Lab. to improve the metallurgical course.

* * * * *

We received a number of valuable suggestions as to who was the most popular college widow, but as we asked that purely for the information of the committee, we withhold those opinions.

Conclusion

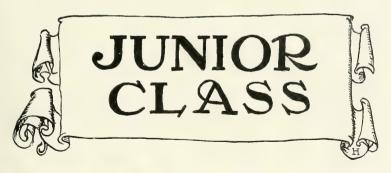

Fellow class-mates, we will not tire you any longer, so our conclusion will be short and sweet.

We have neither given nor received any graft in the publication of this book.

(signed) THE COMMITTEE.

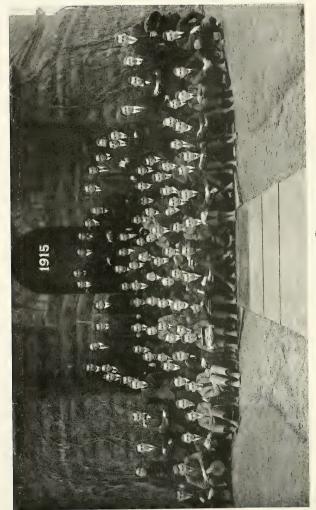

UR Freshman dream and Sophomore ambition to be an upper classman has indeed materialized, and to us the first days of college life now seem as yesterdays in the recollection of our past experiences.

As Freshmen we distinguished ourselves by winning all of the "Founder's Day" sports and celebrating the same with flannel shirts and corduroys and at the same time abolished black ties. Among the class heroes who lead us into victory, we shall always remember our first President who has since been elected captain of two 'varsity teams, the 1914 basketball and football teams. Others, too, have distinguished themselves on the 'tgridiron' and in various other college activities, of whom as a class we are justly proud.

As Sophomores we had a battle "Royall" to uphold the honor and pride of our class. Although numbers were against us in the tie-up, we showed our skill the next day by winning the banner rush against the odds. A few weeks later we felt the unkindness of fate when we lost the "Founder's Day" sports by a fluke. Nevertheless our pleasantest recollection shall always be of the fall of this year, for then the witnessed our first football victory over Lafayette and the celebration of that victory. In the spring of this same year, after the conviction and cremation of "King Calculus," we felt that half our college career was completed and began to assume a justifiable dignity.

It was with no little pleasure that we returned in the fall of 1913 to find ourselves classed as Juniors. In this third stage of class distinction "Brown and White" has a new meaning. We found that we were bound by a closer bond than ever before. Our college has become our home. Having had the fortune of witnessing two Lehigh foot-ball victories over Lafayette and one defeat, also the inauguration of a new spirit of athletics, we feel that, in the future devotion to our Alma Mater, the spirit of Lehigh will ever be with us.

A BRIEF resume of the Freshman year might serve as a suitable introduction to the later achievements of the Class of 1916.

Beginning in the fall of 1912 it did not take us long to start. On the evening before college began, the tie-up was held, out of which we came victorious. So impressed were the Sophomores that our Freshman life was practically devoid of hazing. When the lower classes met in the battles on the gridiron, track and diamond, the star of 1916 again shone bright in the heavens, for we won two out of three events and our supremacy was decided for that year. The Sophomores were so humiliated that the rest of our Freshman year was uneventful.

Gathering on the 16th day of September, 1913, the incompetent babes of 1917 were entertained royally after the opening exercises. In the banner rush held later on the field, 1916, although badly outnumbered, possessed that "never die" spirit and when the time was called we had the banner in the enemies territory.

Only once or twice prior to Founder's Day did the Freshmen offer any resistance to our laws and these encounters proved to be the work of the upper classmen, in whom the defeat of the previous year still rankled.

There is an expression "they never had a chance" and that describes the "Founder's Day Sports. Thus 1916 won the Sports both years and this equalled the record which had not been approached in five years.

This is the history of our Class for the first two years in college. As we think 1916 is the greatest class that has graced the slopes of South Mountain, the purpose of this history has been to disprove any derogatory sentiments that other people may hold.

Historian.

INETEEN hundred and seventeen first came together as a class one night in September, 1913, in Drown Hall. Here, with the aid of the Juniors, we donned our war paint and set out to battle with the Sophomores in the Opening Night Tie-up. We met them on the Athletic Field and great was our victory. For a brief time the fight was fierce but when time was up an untied Sophomore was as scarce as an "A" in the Math. Department. They attempted to retaliate, however. by decorating every available spot in the Beth lehems with posters, insulting our good name and reputation, but their plan failed. Few and far between were the posters when morning came but fewer and farther between were the Sophomores. The streets were not safe for their dainty feet that early morning.

After the strenuous night we hoped for some rest but it was not to be. In the afternoon we went to the Chapel and proudly realized that our career had begun. As we came humbly forth we discovered ourselves hemmed in on both sides by a line of Sophomores, but we succeeded in getting through with no more harm than a blow to our dignity and we went to Drown Hall to prepare for the Banner Rush.

We lost, defeated by our own numbers and lack of experience. This so put heart into the Sophomores that for a timethey did their best to make our first few days enjoyable and after Chemistry lectures we performed our duty liberally. They entertained us at the Dorms, where we furnished amusement to the best of our ability and their ingenuity. But an end came to it all on Founder's Day.

On the evening before we banished them and did the decorating ourselves. The Founder's Day sports we remember as a hard fought but unsuccessful struggle. Our losing the relay and baseball game gave to them the precedence.

Since those games we have been holding up our end of Lehigh as well as any Freshmen. Most of us have been successful in mid-years and local report gives us credit in other directions as well. At present we are looking forward to a successful future but its record must be left to another Historian.

Mustard and Cheese

T. A. Bryant

HE Mustard and Cheese Dramatic Club offered as its 29th annual production "The Chaperons," a musical comedy in two acts by the late Frederick Ranken. The musical score was written specially for this production by C. L. Packard, J. H. Sheppard, F. I. Wheeler, and C. L. Downing.

The show was first produced to a large and appreciative audience at the Grand Opera House on the Saturday evening of Junior Week, May 2nd, and everyone agreed that it was a great success. All the parts were very well taken, and the singing and dancing choruses were a feature as were two specialty dance numbers. The second performance was given during commencement week in June.

Taylor Gymnasium

The past year has experienced a remarkable development in the athletic equipment of Lehigh. Our hope for a new gymnasium has been recognized and in place of the inadequate equipment of previous years there now stands the newly built Taylor Gymnasium with all the modern appliances for recreative as well as corrective exercise. The Building is 222 long and 72 feet wide containing a game room used for basketball and wrestling, a main gymnasium floor, offices, a large trophy room, basketball and handball courts, fencing, boxing, and wrestling rooms, and locker rooms with accommodation for the entire student-body. In addition to hot and cold shower baths adjoining the locker rooms is a swimming pool 75 feet by 25 feet with a depth from 4.5 feet to 9.5 feet and a capacity of 87,000 gallons.

With the new gymnasium has come the remodeling of the athletic field which will eventually be surrounded by concrete stands with a capacity of 500 each. Seven such stands are completed at the present time, the others being under the course of construction.

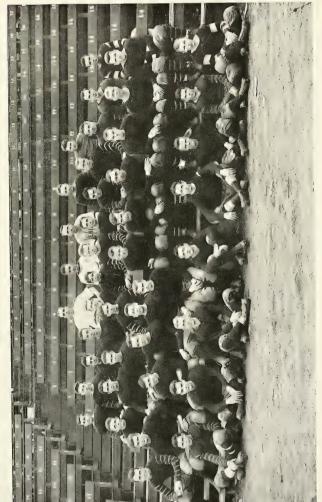

To his first elaborate gift of the gymnasium Chas. L. Taylor has added the New Field House which will be fitted with eighty steel lockers and ten hot and cold shower baths, and in doing so has given to Lehigh an almost ideal equipment for athletics.

By his realization of the urgent need and hope of the undergraduate of Lehigh, Mr. Taylor has well earned his place in the heart of every student by his excellent contribution toward the advancement of the Alma Mater of which we are all so justly proud.

FOOTBALL

The Squad

C. S. WAGNER, Mgr.

"Honus," our big little manager certainly handled everything with the dispatch and efficiency of someone twice his size. He took hold of the situation when everything was in a state of great confusion and straightened it out so everybody was pleased. We are pleased to note that the little fellow will be with us at the helm next year.

REITER

The longheadedness of Bosey's compulsory education scheme undoubtedly was a large factor in shaping a successful team. Being himself an old foot-ball man of repute his assistance to the coach was invaluable in developing a "winning team."

TOM KEADY

To "Tom" is due quite a large share of the credit for having a winning team. For knowing the game, its ins and outs, and all the tricks, "Tom" was a past master. He was continually developing men by trying them in new positions. Sometimes this caused unfavorable comment but it soon turned into the highest respect when one could see the wiseness of this move. Just leave it to "Tom," he knows the game.

The Team

Captain Flick

TO finish up one's football career as Captain George P. Flick has done is deserving of great credit from all Lehigh men. For four years George has been on the big brown team doing great work and justly deserved the captaincy in his last year, and the satisfaction of helping to beat Lafayette.

As a player George had every requisite for the positions he played. To George it made little or no difference whether he held an end position or his half-back job, for wherever he was he played the game. Some may say that Flicker was a little light but that plea soon vanishes in thin air when anyone sees him in action. Tackle—why that is his middle name and as for running the ball and dodging, he was just full of those kind of tricks. As a doper of plays and guessing what was coming he had them all stopped. An example of this was had in a home game when Swarthmore tried a sort of a heated argument stunt which George nipped in the bud and threw them for a loss. Whenever George was in the game he could be depended upon to put forth every effort, and in so doing last year in the Yale game received an injured shoulder which put him out of the game for quite a while.

George started his season this year by making two touch-downs in the Albright game. In the Indian game he was a strong part in the defensive machinery. In the first period of the Yale game he received an injury that put him out of the two following ones. Muhlenberg and the Middies.

In the Swarthmore game he played right end and in this new position he showed that he could do this as well as in his old position at left half-back. In the Haverford game he switched ends and even then he felt perfectly at home. Then finally he played right end again in the last game of his life, the Lafayette game. As has been said, no matter what position he played he could be depended on to do all that was possible.

CAPTAIN-FLECT CRICHTON

A brief scan of the dailies during the foot-ball season would be sufficient to fix in one's mind Harry's great work on the team last year. His great defensive work in the Lafayette game helped materially to make the score what it was, and as a line plunger he was surpassed by none. For these simple reasons Harry is also a member of the wrecking team.

KEADY

The third member of this famous wrecking crew gained his life-long membership through his great ability to stop anything at all and to be stopped by nothing. It always took at least two to bring him to a walk and five to stop him. There have been instances when Jim has kept on going when there were at least five men graced on his effeminate form.

HOBAN

True to his previous reputation, George did fine work on the aforesaid wrecking crew. His carrying the ball either when returning punts or in scrimmage was a feature. Besides this he was a punter and a line bucker of no mean ability. It is hoped that George will still be with us next year.

CHENOWETH

In spite of his somewhat diminutive size "Chenny" did deliver the goods. He was as fast as they make them and a good dodger, ran the team well and could throw the forward-pass as if it were a base-ball. It was this little trick of his that gave us the victory over Lafayette.

CAHALL

"Billie" came to us with a big "rep" from away down East somewhere and held it up with a vengeance. Due to an injury which kept him out of nearly every game but the first and the last, he was hindered in adding more stars to his crown. His chief stunt was punting and drop-kicking goals.

GREEN

Owing to his speed in going down under punts, his hard tackling, "Freddie" shared honors with Sawtelle at right end. "Freddie's" long suit was on the defense. He could smash up any kind of interference in more ways than one, and when it came to getting the man it was a sure bet.

SAWTELLE

"Sawt's" ability to nab forward-passes, rain-orshine, upside-down or-not won for him a part ownership of right end. Besides this he was a valuable man on the defense and could cover the ground like the proverbial greased lightning.

COYNE

Old "Eck" came out again last year, having been kept out of the game before owing to previous injuries. He played in his usual dashing style and for his weight there was not a harder tackler on the team.

BAILEY

This was Bill's last year and it will be hard to find a man his equal in weight and determination. When Bill would start to go through the line it took quite some some boy to stop him which was, incidentally, not very often. Blocking kicks was Bill's specialty.

McCARTHY

Among our stonewallers McCarthy has won his place on account of his ability to be one when the time came. Last year was his first year here at Lehigh and he has won for himself the desire of his friends to see him in togs again next season.

BIANCO

As a hard worker "Tony" deserves honorable mention. His playing last year was at its best, being very marked in the Lafayette game where his great defensive playing was all that could be desired. This husky western gold digger was full of that wrecking crew spirit which always caused such consternation in the opposing team's camp.

GRUMBACH

"Grummy" throughout the year proved himself to be a consistent and sturdy linesman. His playing was not spectacular for as a rule a guard has little chance at the grand-stand stuff, but he was there with the wallop in every pinch.

SCRUGGS

As the pivot Scruggs played a fine game. No matter what kind of a signal was given, whether a complicated shift or some sort of a delayed pass, the ball was sure to be there at just the right time. As a linesman he was a hard worker both on the defense and the offense.

Football

Season of 1913

Aside from the satisfaction and completeness which the defeat our rival Lafayette brought to us last year our team enjoyed an exceptionally successful year. Many of the preceeding year's men had returned so that the outlook was mighty promising and with the many willing scrubs Coach Keady had plenty material. The old wrecking crew back-field had worked together, lacking only Pazzetti to make it the same as before. Hoban, Keady and Crichtonhow that combination spelled terror to the enemy. Of the ten games scheduled eight were played. Lehigh lost three, to Yale, Navy and Carlisle,

As a starter Lehigh opened with Albright and made a rather one-sided score 64-0. In this game Albright was unable to earn one first down. The next game with Western Maryland was cancelled. In their usual score first tactics the Indians got the lead and beat the Brown and White team 21-7. In the first few minutes of play Welsh on a quarter-back run carried the ball sixty yards for a touch-down. In the third quarter Lehigh took a brace and by a forward pass from Chenoweth to Green made the only score.

The game with Franklin-Marshall was also called off on account of an unfortunate train wreck but for the benefit of the many ardent supporters the varsity was lined up against the scrubs and played the full game. Score 20-7 for the varsity.

Against Yale Lehigh was unable to make any score whatever. The game was hard fought, a glance at the injured list will prove this, but the score of 37-0 could not be changed. Instead of the slump which might have been expected after the hard game just experienced Lehigh braced well and defeated Muhlenberg, 7-0, who entertained rather high hopes of winning. The game was played on a muddy field in a continual drizzle, a condition under which a true exhibition of each team's ability could not be had.

In another hard fought game with a heavier team, Lehigh suffered a crushing defeat in the hands of the Middies 39-0. Navy all through its season last year played good foot-ball and had one of the heaviest teams in the country. Lehigh played stubbornly and kicked on every chance, having at no point in the game a good chance to try any offensive tactics.

Exemplifying Lehigh's ability to come back, in the next game she piled up a rather high score against Swarthmore 50-0. The game was a good one and was marked with many spectacular plays. Lehigh outclassed Swarthmore in all departments of the game and were able to gain almost at will. There were many long runs made. Cahall went for eighty yards in one clip, Hoban for seventy, while the twenty-five yard runs are too numerous to mention.

In a hail storm Lehigh succeeded in handing the Mainliners a defeat at Haverford 17-3. The game, though well played and hard fought, lacked the real fighting spirit and it is possible that the desire on Lehigh's part to keep in good trim for the coming big game may have had something to do with it.

This rather large game which has been alluded to has been played and won. A more exciting game could scarcely be imagined. No score was made until the end of the third period when Jim Keady stepped over the line after receiving a brilliant forward pass from Chenoweth. Both teams were as evenly matched as could be and the game was not decided until the referee called a halt. One remarkable feature of the game was the number of unsuccessful drop-kicks attempted. Lafayette five and Lehigh two.

Thus endeth a very successful season. A season which is not marred by any embarrasing defeats. Defeats were only met at the hands of Yale, Navy and Carlisle, and what teams were good enough to be able to handle all three. The credit for this splendid showing belongs in a large measure to Tom Keaday for his efficient coaching, to the squad for its consistent work and the spirit of the students who often turned the tide of the battle by their cheering.

A LTHOUGH it was Tom's second year with the team and many of the men returned, the season proved somewhat unfortunate. Time and time again they would be at the very point of scoring the winning run, when something would go wrong. It seemed that the team could not hit when necessary and so lost many of the games on mighty close scores. Of twenty games played, they won seven.

The first game played was with the fast Holy Cross team. This team no doubt had an advantage over Lehigh, as they had been making a southern trip, and had consequently more practice. Score, 2-0.

Following this Colgate beat us by their superior batting by the score 6-2. The losing streak was broken when Jim Keady pitched the team to victory against Stevens by the score 9-1. This was Jims' first appearance in the box and he allowed only 3 hits.

With many costly errors on Lehigh's part, Ursinus copped the next game, 8-1. Swarthmore and Lehigh made a slugging match out of the next, but Swarthmore managed to push the winning run across, making score 10-9.

Even though she made two home runs in the first inning, Albright fell the victim to Lehigh by the score of 7-6. Then Penn State jolted the team by the score of 2-0 in a well played game. Lehigh had several good chances, but these were lost by Penn State's tightning up.

The ragged fielding of the Franklin-Marshall nine gave Lehigh that game, with the score 18-1. In the next game with the University of Pa., which went 14 innings, the Quakers nosed out the winning run after using 3 pitchers.

The next game was of the slow, listless type, Lehigh losing to Villa Nova, score 3-0. Closely following this was another 'efeat by Columbia. This game ran ten innings and was of the first order, score 2-1.

A victory over Fordham followed, due to their errors and poor support, score 3-1. Another win was made against Bucknell when Keady made a home run in the ninth inning, score 11-9. But in the next, the Army, in a rally in the ninth inning, slipped a 6-5 defeat to Lehigh.

The first of the Lafayette-Lehigh series went to Lafayette by the score of 8-3. Neither "Pat" nor "Shelley" could hold the Eastonians, and Fager, their twirler, was almost invincible.

After playing six innings of a very unsatisfactory game, the game was called with Rutgers in the lead, score 7-6.

By taking the second game of the series, Lafayette won the Championship title. It was a pitchers' battle, with Fager for Lafayette and Shellenberger for Lehigh. Final score 2-1.

The final game of the series with Lafayette was a shut out played in bad weather, before a large crowd of Lehigh supporters. The game was well played in all departments, Shellenberger pitched an errorless game, and with the errorless support he received, made the score what it was 4-0.

IIE 1913 Lacrosse season was not the most successful, Lehigh securing second place in the Southern Division of the United States Lacrosse League. Starting the season with a defeat, the team pulled together and ended the season with a record of five victories and two defeats, scoring thirty-three points against her opponents' eighteen.

The season was opened at home with a defeat at the hands of Cornell 3-0. The second game with Navy was hard fought and won in the last few minutes of play 4-3. With Mount Washington in a rather slow game they piled the score of 9-2. The Indian game, as is usually the case, was the best one of the whole season. Lehigh started off with a rush and caged the first ball after a very few minutes of play. The Indians tied and the remainder of the game was full of excitement with Lehigh finally the victor 2-1. The Hopkins game spelled the second defeat when they fully avenged themselves for the defeat of the prvious year. Score 6-2. The second league game, with Swarthmore, was won by the score of 7-2. Then with a victory over Stevens 9-1, Lehigh closed her season.

No end of credit can be given to John Grimes who has done wonders in advanving this sport since his arrival two years ago.

Season of 1913-14

SUFFERING only two defeats throughout the entire season of fifteen games, Lehigh can justly feel quite proud of her team. At New Haven, against Yale, Lehigh suffered her first defeat. Then later at Swarthmore the second reverse was met with, after an extra period of hard playing,, score 19 to 20.
However later in the season, on her own floor, the Coloseum, the Brown and White quintet evened up matters by defeating them, score 40 to 27.

All the rest of the games played were won with high scores, showing undoubtedly Lehigh's superiority. Penn State, Fordham, Muhlenberg, Lafayette and the rest all suffered alike.

Wrestling Team

Season of 1914

Captain Gatch

REPARATIONS for the wrestling season were began shortly after the opening of the college year. This was quite necessary since only two men of the preceeding year's team remained in college. Material, however, was abundant and great interest was shown in the sport. A large part of these two factors was due to the sweater contest for neamen in the various classes, instituted by J. C. Gorman '10.

The team began the season by winning from Columbia, but lost to the Navy, Penn. State and Cornell, by a very narrow margin in the last instance. The wrestlers had the honor and good fortune to open the new gymnasium by a complete victory, very appropriately over Lafayette. The Pennsylvania meet resulted in a tie.

to whom much credit must be given.

In the Intercollegiate meet held at the University of Pennsylvania, Lehigh ranked third, with four second places and one third place.

THE showing made by the 1913 Tennis Team was creditable. Four matches were won and four were lost, two victories over Lafayette were included in the list of matches won. The season was opened with a victory over Union College, 5-1. Wesleyan defeated our team, 6-0. Haverford was easily defeated, 4-2. The next two matches resulted in defeats for Lehigh by Hill School, 6-0, and by Columbia University, 5-1. Lafayette came to South Bethlehem for our next match and were sent back to Easton defeated, 5-2. The team next journeyed to Philadelphia where a defeat was sustained at the hands of the University of Pennsylvania, 6-1. The season closed with a match with Lafayette at Easton, the team was again victorious over the Eastonians and by the same score, 5-2.

The autumn tournament was very successful. Forty-two students participated and many interesting and hard-fought contests resulted. Turnbull, '14, was the final winner.

Songs

"Flunk, Flunk, Flunk"

Tune-"Row, Row, Row"

Way up in Packer, way up on the third floor,
There sits old Thorny just thirsting for gore,
With yellow papers round him spread—
Quizzes of brave men long since dead.
Picks out the questions that have killed the most men,
Sends them out of his den,
Sits there smiling 'midst his junk,
Knowing that every one will flunk.

CHORUS.

Then they would flunk, flunk, flunk, flunk, flunk, flunk, They'd chew their pencils, then as downward they would fall Funking one and all,
Old Squirt and Thorny, Jack and Snotty, tangoed in the hall—
Then they would flunk, word sweetly repeat
Here's where we flunk, flunk, flunk.

E. A. A., '13 AND A. J. W., '15.

"Here Goes Old Calculus Now"

Tune—"Here Comes My Daddy Now"
Here goes old Calculus now, so long, so long, so long,
Oh, how they'll meet him and greet him with glee,
He will have plenty of misery!
Tortures await him galore, get more, get more,
He will be weary and sore,
Go toll the chapel bell
For he is going to hell,
Here goes old Calculus now!

H. W. P., '12.

"On The Chicken Farm"

I had a dream last night,
I dreamed I saw a light
Out on a farm not far away;
There was a man about seven feet tall;
He came a sneaking thru the hall.
Upon his shoulder sat, a great big yellow cat,
And in his hand he held a lantern bright,
And when he spoke I thot I'd die—
He said ''I'm bound for old Lehigh.''

CHORUS.

On the chicken farm, on the chicken farm,
On Pop Meaker's farm, on Pop Meaker's farm,
He has elliptical chickens and eycloidal eggs,
Triangular roosters with limacon legs,
Differential chicken food is handed out all day
To make the chickens lay,
In the summer time, in the summer time,
In the winter time, in the winter time,
Pop Meaker's countin' chickens on his chicken farm;
When he left here, Thorny lost his right arm.
If he comes back ring the fire alarm.
Go back to your chickens,
Beat it to the chicken farm!
H. W. P., '12.

Gags

Our Troubles or the Cost of an Issue!

Missed-

A lazy moment.

A happy Junior Week.

A minute to think of the one and only girl.

Many meals.

Pleasant thoughts on many occasions.

Our callings to the movies.

Everybodies help.

Time.

What we had-

Inspiration.

Opportunity.

Gallons of coffee, and kegs of Coca-Cola.

Our hands full.

Lots of encouragement.

Sleep (thoughts).

Work.

What we want-

Your approval.

1st Student (on trip through the Baldwin Locomotive Works)—"This is the engine boiler department."

2ND STUDENT-"'Why do they boil the engines?"

1ST STUDENT-"To make the engine tender."

Listen

I have often heard of marvels
And of scientific freaks;
I've read of men who've mounted
To the highest of the peaks.
I've heard of math maticians
With a fourth-dimension brain,
And I've heard of famous surgeons
Operating without pain.
And I know someone has seen them,
That they actually are true;
But there are some things I've never heard
Of happening—have you?

Have you ever heard of Benny
Being absent from a game?
Have you heard "'Doe?" Drinker blow about
The way he won his fame?
Have you ever seen those cog-wheels—
Rubber ones closed in a sheath
So the workmen won't get splattered
From the cold molasses teeth?
Have you ever heard of anyone
Who's seen Bill Esty smile?
If you think you have, just think again —
You've missed it by a mile.

Have you ever seen Plug Richards
Miss a chance to blow his horn?
Have you ever at the seashore
Seen a real September morn?
Have you ever seen Runt Charles
Half as hig as he would seem?
Have you seen a bunch from Easton
That could beat our present team?

Well, I guess I've set you guessin'
And I'll leave you to your fate.
If you think you'll ever see them
You'll grow rusty while you wait.

- ' Burr. '

Exemptions

The Way They Put It

FRESHMAN—I beg your pardon, professor, will you kindly repeat the question?
SOPHOMORE—What was the question, please?
JUNIOR—What, sir?
SENIOR—Huh?

That Bad Cold

What a moment, what a doubt,
All my nose is inside out—
All my thrilling, tickling caustic,
Pyramid rhinoserostic,
Wants to sneeze and can not do it.
How it yearns me, thrills me, stings me,
How with rapturous torment wings me!
Now says, ''Sneeze you fool—get through it.''
Shee—Shee—Oh! 'tis most del—ishi—
Ishi—ishi—most del—ishi!
As—chooo!!!!!!

MUCKRAKER-One who sits on the bleachers, and tells you how to play the game.

Mr. Walters—''Can anyone give me the first line of 'Thanatopsis?'''

'15—''Breathes there a man with a soul so dead.''

—''Burr.''

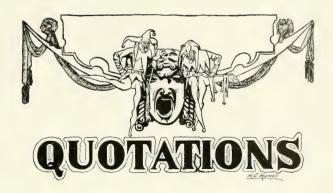

Prof. Blake (speaking on ancient ruins)—Where is Bagdad, gentlemen?

Wolffe (of Allentown)—"Near Catasauqua, isn't it, professor?""

—"Burk."

Would you call the Vice-president's bicycle an Emery-Wheel? - "BURR."

What more intimately associated with your college career than the Railroad?

As a freshman, full of anticipation, you stepped aboard the waiting train and entered upon the active stage of life's iourney. Each vacation, suitcase in hand, with your new made friends you eagerly watched for the train to take you home. And again the Railroad brought you back, refreshed to your work and play in college. When a senior and a graduate vou take vour last trip, perhaps for many years. But at re-union times vou'll know the Railroad will be there to carry you back and forth. until perhaps but few of your classmates will be there to greet vou.

For like a college, a Railroad is both old and young old in years, but constantly made young by each succeeding generation.
